Elza Montpetit Weds Fernand Forest

LEGAL—A wedding of wide interest was solemnized by Rev. Father C. de Champlain, uncle of the bride, in the St. Emile Church, Legal, at 10:00 a.m. on Monday, July 9, when Elza Montpetit, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat. Montpetit of Legal, and Fernand Forest of 11531-84 street, Edmonton, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Forest of Gravelbourg, Sask., were united in marriage.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride wore a gown whose bodice and long lily point sleeves were of chantilly lace and the skirt and neck of nylon marquisette. She carried a bouquet of white gladiolas and American beauty roses.

The bride was attended by Lorraine Montpetit and Cecile

Forest. They were dressed in lilac and yellow cut organdy dresses.

The groom's attendants were Laurence Boisvert and Leo Lirette.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with white and red peonies. The music was played by Rev. Sr. de Marignol, S.G.M.

The reception after the ceremony was held at Club Mocambo, St. Albert.

The young couple left for a wedding trip to Banff and Jasper for a duration of one week. The bride was dressed in a grey suit, shoes and purse, pink hat and gloves and a mink neckpiece.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Rippe and their sons, Ronald and Earl, holidayed in Calgary lately. They also attended the Stampede.

Mr. and Mrs. Lambert and their family from Quebec are holidaying in Vimy with their relatives.

Students' Union Hold Banquet

CLYDE—Over a hundred guests attended the Clyde Students' Union banquet on Friday evening, June 29, when Miss Edith Stubbs and Stanley Slupek graduated. Guest speakers of the evening included Mr. G. R. Mealing, principal, and Mr. B. G. Mealing, assistant principal, on behalf of the staff; Mr. R. A. McMillan, Mayor of Clyde, on behalf of the Village; Mr. Albert Nelson for the School Board; and in reply, Stanley Slupek spoke for the graduates. Following the banquet a dance was held in the Community Hall, where a very large crowd was in attendance. The Clyde Home and School Association served lunch.

Splendid community spirit was shown when 10 neighbors cleared a half-mile of brush on Friday for Mrs. John Cherepanik prior to road grading along her fence-line recently.

A very successful picnic was held at Tatwinaw on Friday, June 29 where the girls' softball team beat the married ladies. In baseball, the Tatwinaw boys defeated Clearbrook. A dance was held in the evening.

Miss Dorothy Campbell of Edmonton, attended the graduation dance in Clyde on Friday, June 29.

Mrs. G. Rife and daughter, Evelyn spent last week holidaying at Jasper.

Miss Alice Hopkins of Edmonton, was a Clyde visitor on Friday evening, where she attended the graduation dance.

Edmonton visitors at the Clyde Sports last Sunday, included Mr. and Mrs. Emit Gosche, Mr. and Mrs. John Bourassa, Mr. and Mrs. Al B. Lancer and Mr. Bentley—all renewing old acquaintances.

Shower For Miss Bertha Frohisher

CLYDE—A shower was held at the home of Mrs. William Coles in honor of her sister, Miss Bertha Frohisher, June bride, who was wed to Clarence Workman last Saturday week. Twenty-five ladies attended the shower. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Coles, assisted by Mrs. Paul Harris. The bride unwrapped her many useful and beautiful gifts in appropriately decorated surroundings of pink and white streamers and on the back of the bride's chair was a beautiful bride doll decoration. Bertha thanked her friends for the lovely gifts in a few well-chosen words.

Laverne Brownell left last week to join his parents at Wankarem, B.C., some 35 miles from Vancouver.

At the close of the school term, perfect attendance was recorded in the grade seven and eight rooms. Corinne Langford had the highest attendance record, while the grade three and four room did the best with three pupils with perfect attendance—Arden Jones, Evelyn Graham and Gail Von Loewenstein. In the grade one and two room, Ivor Langford was the winner of the prize for perfect attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. McMillan and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle McMillan left on a three weeks' vacation trip to Tucson, Arizona, where they will visit Mrs. Lyle McMillan's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Whiting left on a trip to the States last Thursday.

Bobby and Teddy Toupin left at the close of school for Edmonton to join their parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Curran were Clyde visitors from Edmonton, attending the graduation dance. Miss Patsy Wheeler of Edmonton, was visiting Fern Middleton and attended the graduation dance.

Pickardville Has Successful Picnic

PICKARDVILLE—A very successful picnic was held in Pickardville on July 2 with a good crowd in attendance. Baseball games were the feature attraction, with Pickardville teams playing a prominent part. Racing competitions were enjoyed by many of the small fry as well as older folk. The dance at night was attended by a record crowd, with music supplied by Alf's Melody Makers.

MORINVILLE'S recent 60th anniversary celebration featured a colorful parade, with many interesting entries. One of the most interesting was this covered wagon, similar to that which the first settlers arrived in back in 1891.

Pickardville Girls Weds

The United Church at Busby was the setting of a very pretty wedding on June 26 at 3 p.m. when Esther Adeline, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Buchholz of Pickardville, became the bride of Mr. Robert Earl Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Brown of Vimy. The Rev. Raymond Schultz of Helmut, Alta., officiated.

The bride was very lovely as she entered the church on the arm of her father, wearing a beautiful dress of white satin with lace trim, white beaded tiara and veil. Her flowers were a nosegay of red sweetheart roses and lily of the valley. Her attendants, Miss Mary Schoenrok, gown-d in yellow with matching apple blossoms, and Miss Helen Brown, sister of the bride, dressed in pink with matching apple blossoms, were very dainty. Mr. Douglas Brown, brother of the groom, and Mr. Wilfred Buch-

Clyde Initiates Fire Brigade

CLYDE—A demonstration was held on Monday at the Fair grounds by a representative of the Saskatoon Fire Equipment Company, showing the new fire brigade and the ratemakers of Clyde how to use the new fire-fighting chemical equipment. Many questions from the ratemakers were answered. Everyone was favorably impressed with the chemically controlled fire. The fire brigade consists of: Chief Paul Nyl, Harry Stieger, Lloyd Jones, Dick Clements, Walter Rowland, and Lorne Boyd. The siren is installed by the south-west corner of Nyl's garage and is sounded daily at noon.

The road to Westlock is undergoing reconstruction, as the big road gangs are at work with their camp pitched across the road from the Edson School. The workers are busy near the Clyde Corner.

Mr. Sam Magas left last week for a holiday in Ontario, where he will visit and attend the wedding of a relative.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Donnelly took in the Settler Stampede on July 3 and 4 and visited relatives there. Their son, Larry remained at Red Deer, where he will visit his aunt and uncle. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Huett.

Conversations are extended this week to Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Mills on the arrival of a son in an Edmonton hospital last Thursday. Mrs. Mills is the former Miss Nora Donnelly of Clyde.

holz, brother of the bride, attended the groom.

Some 200 guests gathered for the reception, served by the bride's parents at their home. The bride's table was laid with a beautiful lace cloth, hand crocheted, done by the bride and her mother, and centred by a lovely four-tiered wedding cake beautifully decorated with roses, butterflies and bows by Mrs. Lloyd McMillan of Pickardville.

Out-of-town guests included the grandparents from Bruderheim, friends and relatives from Bruce, Barrhead, M. Lowdale, Manola, Rossington, Westlock, Busby, Pickardville, Nearlandia, Flatbush, Edmonton, Lamont, Riviere Qui Barre, Highridge, Legal and Vimy.

The newlyweds left on a wedding trip to Banff and Jasper by motor. For her honeymoon the bride chose a wine gabardine suit with white accessories. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Brown will make their home in the Vimy district.

Clyde Sports Huge Success

CLYDE—In spite of rain showers throughout the day, the Clyde Sports on Sunday was one of the most successful on record.

In the softball game the Tatwinaw girls defeated Westlock girls 18 to 13. In the hardball tournament, Clyde lost to Barrhead, Westlock lost to Onoway, and in the final game, Onoway defeated Barrhead to take home the prize money. Other attractions were races, midway, and the ever-popular booths that did a rushing business all day. The evening closed with a show in the Community Hall.

Heavy rains fell in this district on July 1, 3 and 5, bringing a big improvement to crop and garden conditions—no need to mention the spirits of everyone in the entire community.

Morinville Holds Young People's Lawn Party

MORINVILLE—The Morinville CYO is extending a cordial invitation to all young people of Morinville and of surrounding parishes to attend a lawn party to be held at Kranskopf's farm. The day's fun will start off with a hay-ride leaving the school grounds at 1:30 p.m., Sunday, July 15th.

On arrival at destination there will be lawn games, ball games and other entertainment. Supper will be a wiener-roast and this will be followed by dancing on the lawn, and a twilight hayride back home!

CYO Presents Items Of Interest

ST. ALBERT—Meeting of the C.Y.O., held on July 8, was well attended, despite the weather. Following the general routine business sessions, a new program was introduced to the members. We wish to adopt this new program which divides the meeting into groups of Spiritual, Apostolic, Educational and Recreational periods. Topics for discussion were:

On Friday, July 20, CWO will sponsor a "Cotton Ball" in the Community Hall. All girls are urged to wear their frocks. Dance tickets will be sold by the members for 50¢ up to the night of the dance, where tickets will be sold for 75¢. Therefore, buy your tickets early.

Sunday, July 15, is the date of our annual picnic at Sandy Lake. Any members without transportation are asked to come to the Church around 10 a.m. All parents and friends are invited to join the CYO. Games will be played and a refreshment booth will be operated.

Now that the softball equipment has been purchased, why not turnout some Wednesday evening, say the 18th of July, and have fun with the gang? The CYO play presented at the picnic was very successful. Congratulations to all the members, and the efficient director.

Thought for the day: "A friend in need is a friend indeed!"

Seen and Heard: A certain girl's name sounding music to Andrew's ears! ... A former member planning a wedding in the near future! ... German a bit sore from horseback riding? ... Father finding the road to Sandy Lake a bit grim on Sunday! ... Henry in bad humor Monday evening?

The craft of the silversmith is centuries old but silver plating, as done in Canada today, originated only in the early 1800's.

Alberta's Telephone System

For a long time we've felt an article should be published bringing to the attention of Albertans a situation that is obvious to nearly everyone. That is the total inadequacy of the Alberta Government Telephone System service to rural Alberta.

It isn't true that you can get faster service by mailing a letter—but long distance service is so overcrowded with limited lines between points that business men often feel they can drive to the point they want to reach by phone faster than wait their turn at the switchboard.

The Telephone system is not only overloaded on existing extensions of the service, but only a small proportion of farmers get telephone service. If the present government wants any further arguments against the Government ownership of rural electrification—they have it with the present ownership of Government rural telephone service. Compared to establishing hydro lines, putting up rural telephone lines is child's play. Not nearly enough farm families have telephone service. Yet the advantages of quick farm to farm, and farm to town telephone service cannot be questioned.

The Government Telephone System has not kept pace in serving present subscribers. It has absolutely no idea of going out and selling service to farmer prospects not now getting telephone service. It is ludicrous that two communities in the Grouard constituency have no telephone service and election returns were held up a week pending receipt of returns by aircraft.

We think Government officials should announce plans to enlarge and modernize the telephone service. Prompt action will alleviate the feelings of censure felt by telephone users in all parts of the Province.

The Grouard Election

Election of the Liberal candidate in the Grouard constituency gives the Liberals under J. Harper Prowse a total of three in the legislature. This is by no means a formidable opposition, but at least it gives Mr. Prowse leadership of an official opposition.

The C.C.F. which polled about 15% of the total vote in Grouard, has only two members—one less than the Liberal party. If any trend is apparent, it is that Albertans are fast falling away from any attraction to the Socialists, and are beginning to see the Social Credit party in a new light.

That new light is the sustained period of prosperity that Canadians have enjoyed for a decade. Prosperous people aren't so likely to look for a Utopian pot of gold at the end of any party's program. And without the dividends and free money, Social Credit has become just another political party.

There is only one way possible for the Social Credit party to put its monetary theories to the test—and that is by winning a federal election, Dominion wide. There is only one man alive who could conceivably lead the party to win a national election—Premier Manning. If Mr. Manning thought there was any possibility of winning the confidence of all the people of Canada he would, we are sure, trade places with Hon. Solon Low, and prepare to install Social Credit in Ottawa in '53, or '57, or '61. Until he does that, the party has little hope of getting to first base with its peculiar political and monetary program.

V.I.P.'s Need Prayer

When the newspaper reporters reached Vice-President Harry Truman shortly after the death of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, his request to them was "Boys, pray for me". Judging by Mr. Truman's profanity and much-publicized bad temper, it is now apparent that either the boys didn't pray, or else the prayers of newspapermen aren't particularly effective.

How many Christians pray, we may ask? And of those who do pray, how many call upon God Almighty to equip leading world figures with Wisdom from Above? The V.I.P.'s (Very Important Persons) need not only our moral support but our prayer support also. Men and women in high places need the spiritual indulgence of the rest of us, to the end that peace and prosperity may rule the earth.

A Good Card-Record System

By T. W. PUE

Here's a modern fable that would have stood up to the test of the best Aesop could write. It would go far to explain to the kiddies how we progressed from the gold system of international banking—if it weren't so simple and sensible.

T. W. PUE

Once upon a time the nations of the World did all their banking with gold bricks. Everybody thought gold was a good medium of exchange. So when the British borrowed money from the United States they had hundreds of pounds of gold bricks loaded on a ship at New York and expressed, at great expense, to London. When the loan was repaid the gold was loaded at the London docks and sent back to New York.

One day a smart international statesman said he thought this system was silly, and suggested a centralized international bank. So the nations of the world established a big bank building on Christmas Island in the centre of the Pacific. They sent all the world's gold there and in the huge vaults every nation had its own gold bullion.

An international committee appointed a governor for Christmas Island as World Bank Manager, who lived in a splendid house with his family and a small retinue of servants. A big warship was kept anchored a mile from the shore and all other shipping was forbidden to sail within 200 miles of the place, except once every six months when a supply ship brought mail and provisions.

The nations of the world did their banking by short wave radio. If Siam borrowed $100,000.00 from England the governor received a short wave message to transfer that much gold from the British room to the Thailand room. It was much easier to carry the bags of gold across a hall and down a corridor on a wheelbarrow than half way round the world by ship.

It was a wonderful system, and easy, too. The Governor kept a card record in a little box on his desk. Every time a transfer of money was made from one nation to another he not only made it by carting the gold bars across the hall. He made a note of it in his card record system. That way he always knew where the gold was without leaving his desk to count it.

As you can imagine the Governor didn't have very much work to do. Besides, he and his staff got so lazy they even stopped switching gold bricks from one nation's room to another. The Governor kept his card record system up-to-date and figured it was just as good to know where the gold should be without it actually having to be there.

For a long time the system worked out wonderfully well. The world's banking was done by short wave radio and his little card record system held the assets of world finance. The people of the world were prosperous. They were confident because they were rich. Weren't they, now, with millions of dollars worth of gold stored away in their own respective vaults on Christmas Island? Years went by.

But one day catastrophe struck. An earthquake sent Christmas Island International Bank, the Governor's palatial residence and all the gold to the bottom of the Pacific. The Governor and his staff managed to escape with their lives—and the precious card record system tucked under his arm. They sailed in a rowboat to the warship standing off shore.

Now the Governor was a very wise person. He knew that if the people of the world found out their gold was all at the bottom of the Pacific they would go into hysterics. Panic would strike the stock market. People would quit buying. Men and women would be thrown out of work. People would starve, without work and without money.

So what did he do? He just set up headquarters on the warship and stayed where he was. He continued to receive and act upon orders by short wave radio to make international transfers of gold bullion. All by means of his little card record system.

Nearly six months later the supply ship came along, and were they surprised to find Christmas Island was at the bottom of the ocean with all the gold! So was the whole world. But panic at loss of all their wealth was averted. The wise Governor told them how well he had operated without the gold, with his little card record system only, for so long.

The world soon found out that gold wasn't much good as wealth, and they decided they could get along without it. So everyone lived happily ever after.

Which just proves how good is a good Card Record System.

BALLOT BOX BLUES

Dear Sir—That fellow who suggested a lottery in order to get the voters to the polls must have an impractical outlook. Although it is conceivable that such a lottery could be organized, it would hardly be in accord with the principles of democracy. Democracy should need no "come-on" order to get the people to participate in it. And we'll just have to do our best to get along without the votes of people who refuse to take part in democratic elections.

FREE ADVICE

Dear Sir—I have a word of advice to those who think they, as individuals, can do nothing about the deplorable state of affairs that prevails in the world today. Heed the words of Alfred A. Weinstein, who said: "You may think there is not much that any one person can do toward achieving world peace. Yet if every person who believed in the ideas in the Golden Rule, the Sermon on the Mount and the Ten Commandments would begin practicing them in his own small sphere, the combined effect would be world-shaking."

GOV'T GRANT

Dear Sir—Prime Minister St. Laurent has announced that the federal government is to implement the Massey Report and grant Canadian universities $7,000,000. This money is necessary to keep the universities operating at their present standards and replace the money formerly paid to the universities through DVA grants for the education of veterans. The government is to be commended for the action, because, whether Canada is in a state of peace or war, progress in education, science and technology is absolutely necessary in our modern world.

Dear Sir—That column by T. W. Pue on "The Lighter Side of Law-making" was very interesting. Rural School Divisions Face Financial Crisis As Gov't Aid Needed To Operate

Financial problems facing many Alberta school divisions were revealed this week by an appeal from the Lac Ste. Anne School Division for a larger grant from the provincial government to enable the division to carry on operations.

The Lac Ste. Anne school division covers a sprawling area along a single rail line and highway northwest of Edmonton. It stretches for about 150 miles from Onoway to Mayerthorpe.

F. W. Wiggins, secretary-treasurer of the board, said the division is being "forced into debt" in an effort to maintain minimum education facilities for a steadily increasing student population.

LOAN REFUSED

The board's application to borrow by debenture was recently turned down, which automatically cut off the division from any aid through the School Borrowing Assistance Act.

The district trustees say the current crisis stems from the enforced trend to centralized schooling during the war years.

Construction and improvement of centralized schools became necessary during the war years due to the teacher shortage, as there were no teachers available for service in outlying rural school houses.

In addition to the cost of centralized schools, came the expense of operating transportation systems to van the pupils to school.

School conditions in the area are not satisfactory, the trustees say, and add that it is impossible to administer the division properly with limited funds.

"There has been no provision," said the trustees, "for such subjects as general shop, household economics, or agriculture. We have no auditorium; no provision for carrying out the physical education program in the winter months."

They added that the division "urgently needs more classrooms, and improved facilities for handling the high school program."

The trustees also said that application to the minister of education for permission to borrow privately has met with no response; but the board of arbitration awarded an increase in teachers' salaries.

"The department of education has approved our budget," they said, "commenting that every item seemed to be pared to the bone, and expressing some concern as to whether it would be possible to operate at such a low figure; but the estimated deficit was $40,000."

The division requires additional funds for new school construction and other capital purposes.

"It should be obvious to all fair minded people," the directors said, "that this situation should not be allowed to continue indefinitely, or it will grow worse and worse, and much more difficult to remedy."

Calgary Slaying Ruled As Sex Crime

CALGARY—The June 17 murder of Mrs. Elizabeth Simpson, 32, 316 7th Ave. E., was a sex slaying, it was revealed in an inquest into her death.

Dr. R. C. Riley, pathologist, who performed a post-mortem, told a coroner's jury the woman suffered abdominal rupture, sufficient to cause death. However, the primary cause of death was given as fractures to the head and jaw and damage to the brain.

The pathologist opined that "none of the wounds to the head were made with a sharp instrument" but was interrupted abruptly by Dr. G. R. Johnson, coroner, who stated such evidence was not asked for as it would, in all probability, be guesswork.

Det. Maurice Higgett testified that he, in company with Det.-Sgt. Ken McIvor, reached the room of the slain woman about 7:35 a.m. Only signs of a struggle were an overturned beer bottle and the bed, which was in disorder. The body was covered with blankets, while a pillow had been placed over the woman's face. Some blood stains

30,000 Alberta Farmers Suffer Loss From Hail

A five-dollar bill is all that an Alberta farmer requires to protect his entire crop — large or small — against the menace of hail.

That's the boast of the Alberta Hail Insurance Board, which goes into its 14th season of operation this year after having insured a total of 25,000,000 acres with a total risk of $142,000,000.

CO-OPERATIVE

The board, whose head office is in Calgary, operates as a co-operative which often gives protection to farmers whose hazard from hail is so great that no other company will give them protection.

In addition to operating its insurance program, the board distributes surplus monies back to its policyholders. In 1948 five per cent dividends were paid, and 10 per cent dividends were paid during the last two years.

Since its inception the board has had 150,000 applications for insurance and 30,000 farmers have filed notices of loss.

Out of every dollar paid in by farmers, about 70 cents has been returned in claims, with 15 cents being used for operating costs and 15 cents being placed in a reserve fund for use in heavy hail loss years.

The board's adjusters are men with farming experience and are thoroughly trained in evaluating the damage done to a crop by hail. They, as well as every other employee of the board, are instructed that a claimant must receive exactly what his damage by hail amounts to and every effort is made by the board and its employees to see that this is done.

DUAL DUTY

The board considers that it has a duty both to the policyholder who is not hailed and the policyholder who is hailed. The duty to the policyholder who is not hailed is that the funds of the board must be conserved and paid out only to those who are eligible and in an amount not more than that to which they are entitled.

The policyholder who is hailed is entitled to a proportion of his policy in exact accordance with the per cent of damage done to his crop by hail.

Three men have been arrested as suspects, including the woman's husband.

LETTER TO LOUISA

Mother Wrong In Trying To Interfere With Daughter

Dear Louisa:

I have an only daughter who has been married three years.

She and her husband have lived in the same town that we live in. They have one little boy and we have all been very happy being with one another so often. Now his company wants him to go to South America for a year and my daughter is planning to take the child and go with him.

My husband and I think this is foolish as she knows nothing about conditions down there and the baby may get sick.

But she seems determined to go no matter how black a picture we paint. What do you think about it? Surely if they love each other they can stand being separated a year.

Anxious Mother.

Answer:

I think you are doing the wrong thing to try and keep your daughter with you. In fact, I think that selfishness is at the bottom of this desire to have her stay even though you are aware that the real reason you wish her to stay is that you hate being separated from her and her child.

She, I am sure will be much happier with her husband and he with her than they would be apart, even though she may not have a mother to help her over the rough places during the coming year.

Your daughter is an adult and capable of deciding what she wishes to do and I, for one, am all for the girls who are willing to share the rough places as well as the smooth with their husbands as they go through life.

LOUISA.

Dear Louisa:

I have been going with a boy that I like very much but I am not in love with him. He wants me to marry him and I have promised to do so. His family is very prominent but he has a bad reputation. Do you think he will reform if I marry him?

Eighteen.

Answer:

Don't count on reforming a man after marriage. If he doesn't turn over a new leaf before hand there is not much chance that he will do so thereafter. And, for goodness sake, do not marry a man just because he comes of a good family or has money if you don't love him. It will be the hardest money you ever earned.

LOUISA.

Says Canadians Have Scandalous Drinking Habits

TORONTO — (BUP) — Canadians have scandalous drinking habits according to a man who should know.

Bartender Bob Harbison has spent the last quarter-century behind the most distinguished bars in England, Canada and the United States. He said Canadians drink more and get drunker than Englishmen or Americans.

"The women here don't know how to drink, either," he said. "Canadian women like to mix their drinks too much. They switch from cocktail to cocktail and the next morning they're sick."

Harbison said English men and women never get drunk.

"They'll always cut themselves off when they know they've had too much," he said, "but not the Canadian. Canadians seem to be about on a par with Americans. But I think they drink a bit more here."

Harbison has mixed drinks at the Savoy Hotel in London, the Drum Bar in Buffalo, N.Y., the Winston Grill in Toronto and other bars in Montreal and New York.

He blamed liquor laws in Canada for the heavier drinking.

"They can get a drink any time at all down in the States, but here they can't and perhaps they try to get as much as they can before the bar is shut down," he said.

Lurid Past Left Behind By Booming Mining Town

PRINCETOWN, B.C. — (BUP) — This land-locked town, the largest unorganized town in Canada's west, sealed a picturesque past with lurid episodes by voting to incorporate under the Municipalities Act.

By the vote, Allison townsite, Princeton Heights and West Princeton became one town of 2,500 population.

In 1860, British Columbia's imperious governor, James Douglas, set out from Hope, B.C., to the Rock Creek diggings at the gateway of present-day Princeton's mountain ramparts.

He told the rough, bearded miners that he would build them a wagon road from Hope to link their claimants with the coast, 130 miles away, to make their mining pay.

He sent a detachment of Royal Engineers to garrison the gold-hungry town. It was named after the Prince of Wales, later King Edward VII, who was making his first tour of the Dominion.

GOLD FEVER SHIFTS

Douglas had not reckoned with the gold fever shifting to the Cariboo, however, and his wagon road for the miners in the Similkameen basin was abandoned after reaching out 25 miles from Hope.

In 1885, excitement surged anew with the Granite Creek gold stampede and a rent city mushroomed to become the fifth largest in the province, but it faded quickly.

Interest gradually turned to the Similkameen's lode mineral resources, with occasional "hydraulic" placer ventures. Other nearby gold camps such as McKinney, Fairview, Phoenix and Roseland rose to replace the placer excitement.

The Nickel Plate mine at Hedley became a sensation. Activity also spurred in the Copper Mountain and Summit camps. Several railways, scrambled to push lines into the country, including Jim Hill and his Spokane, Wash., link to the Great Northern system.

By 1900, Princeton was a flourishing place, with even a pine forest-gridded race track. But starved of transport to the coast, the town languished again. Hill's railways never got beyond Princeton to complete the proposed loop from Spokane to the coast.

The demand for copper in World War I gave Princeton a new lease on life. It was largely to service the huge Consolidated Mining company smelter at Trail that the Canadian Pacific Kettle Valley line finally took over Hill's survey to the coast.

World War II provided a further impetus and Douglas' century-old dream of a Hope highway finally materialized on Nov. 2, 1949.

The decision to incorporate, long a bone of contention in the area, blossomed in full force then, with residents voting this spring to end their 90 years of autonomy and become a town.
